

Jim Mason, Marilyn Sibert get leads in 'Dark Victory'

Jim Mason and Marilyn Sibert, both sophomores, have won leading roles in "Dark Victory", OU's 1951 spring play. The University Players will present the play in the auditorium April 13 and 14.

Mrs. Frances Key, Players sponsor, announced the cast Monday. Other cast members are Lee Houghton, Jack Dunlevy, Gwen Arner, Mary Rispler, Don Sarooian, Bob Russell, Phyllis Gordon, Helen Holtz, Harry Langdon, Bonnie Wilson, Burl Robbins and Bill Pierson.

Mason will play the part of Dr. Frederick Steele, 35-year-old surgeon. Miss Sibert is cast in the role of Judith Traherne, 27-year-old New York society girl.

Long Island setting

The first two acts of the play are set in the living room of Judith Traherne's Long Island country home. Judith finds herself slowly going blind and calls in Dr. Parsons (Dunlevy). Parsons, in turn, calls in Dr. Steele, a specialist.

Unwillingly, Dr. Steele examines Judith; when he discovers the seriousness of her illness, he agrees to perform an operation. In the meantime, the two have fallen in love. But Judith learns she has only six months to live; suspecting that the doctor has proposed marriage because he pities her, she turns him down.

She then goes on a wild chase from party to party, eagerly seeking the company of the "country club" set (Miss Holtz, Miss Gordon, Russell and Langdon). An earnest conversation with her stable boy (Sarooian) brings her to her senses.

Vermont scene

She follows Dr. Steele to his Vermont home, and the two are married. Act III is set in this home. Dr. Steele and Judith are supremely happy, but the six months are soon up. As the curtain falls, Judith sends Dr. Steele off to Montreal, outwardly cheerful but certain in her heart she will never see him again.

Other cast members and their parts are Miss Houghton, a nurse; Miss Arner, a New York society writer; Miss Rispler, a Vermont housekeeper; Miss Wilson, a maid; Robbins, a postman, and Pierson, a man.

Authors of "Dark Victory" are George Brewer, jr., and Bertram Bloch. The play has appeared in novel form and in 1938 was produced as a movie starring Bette Davis. A moody, dramatic play, "Dark Victory" depends largely on the performance of the two leads for its success.

Coffee drinkers hear Abe Lincoln history

History of Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg address was given at Wednesday morning's Coffee Hour by Louis A. Warren, Lit. D. of Indiana.

Warren emphasized that the actual Gettysburg address as we know it today was rewritten twice, and pointed out Biblical influences in the address.

Warren also told of Lincoln's change in policy from anti-slavery to loyalty to the union in itself.

Approximately 50 students attended the morning session. June Williams, chairman of the Coffee Hours, commented that she was "very pleased with the turnout. Mr. Warren certainly deserved it because he is an excellent speaker."

Fee deadline is tomorrow

Tomorrow is the last day for seniors to pay activity fees, according to Willis Brown, class president.

The fees total $5.50 per senior and may be paid at the ticket office between 9 a. m. and 3 p. m.

The senior fees include the banquet, dance, senior gift, and class tree.

Brown urges all seniors to pay their fees before 3 p. m. today.

Recognition luncheon honors art students

A recognition luncheon was held at the Blackstone Hotel last Monday for art students who designed and made boxes and posters for the 1951 Easter Seal Drive.

The students who made 16 individual posters, 75 coin box labels and posters to support them everywhere are Eugene Roncka, Harlan Petersen, Robert Gregory, Bonny Coleman, Donna Lauderbach, Albert Johnson, Richard Francis, Dale Sass and Ruth Kennedy. Silk screen assistants were Tony Greco and Dorothy Mayhall.

A letter from John Young, a New York ad man, about advertising appeal in layout was read to the class.

Dean Gorman attends education conference

Dr. Frank H. Gorman, dean of the College of Education, will attend a special invitational conference conducted by the Midwest Administration Center, University of Chicago this week end. One representative from each of nine states will attend the special conference.

Students hear chorus, pastor at convocation

University students attended the annual Easter convocation this morning at 9:30 in the auditorium.

A nine-day spring vacation will begin this afternoon at 5, and end with the re-opening of classes at 8 a.m. Monday, March 26.

The University of Omaha Mixed Chorus, under the direction of Richard E. Duncan, and Dr. Emory Luccock, pastor of Dundee Presbyterian church, were featured in the annual Easter program.

Chorus features

The chorus opened its program by singing "In Joseph's Lovely Garden," by Dickinson, and closed with the "Seraphia Song" by Rubenstein-Gaines. Helen Tiaht, contralto soloist, and Bill Fitzsimmons, violinist, were featured in the "Seraphia Song."

Prior to the Easter meditation by Dr. Luccock, the chorus presented "Open the Gates of the Temple," by Knapp with Millicent Wheeler, soprano soloist, and "The Three Lilies," arranged by Harvey Gaul.

Other selections

Other songs were "Alleluia! Christ Is Risen," by Kopoloyoff, and "We Come with Voices Swelling," by Voris.

Debaters attend McCook tourney today, tomorrow

Students who will participate in the Nebraska Intercollegiate Forensic Association meet at McCook, Nebraska, today and tomorrow have been announced by J. D. Tyson, debate head.

The first team of Class A debaters will be Gene Step and Duane Post. The Class B debate team is made up of Larry Barber and Reed Belden.

Gene Step will also head Class A extempore speaking and Burt McMillan will take over Class B in the extempore speaking category.

Reed Belden will also enter in Class A discussion.

The five debaters left Omaha at noon yesterday for the tournament. This morning at 8:30 they attended a general assembly in the auditorium of McCook Junior College, host for the invitational meet.

Today's schedule includes various sections of the tournament, discussion and debate. Extempore speaking for both men and women will take place this evening.

High school seniors take Regents' tests

Two hundred high school seniors will compete in the University of Omaha's annual Regents' Scholarship examinations Tuesday.

Students from eleven Omaha, Council Bluffs and surrounding high schools have registered students for the examinations. Four tests will be given during the day at the university.

At noon, the students will be guests of President Milo Bail and the university deans at a luncheon in the cafeteria.

Regents' Scholarships provide a remission of tuition for one school year.

Religion instructor at the university and pastor of the First Christian Church, presided over the program and read the invocation and scripture.

Nancy Hileman was accompanist for the university chorus.

Vacation schedule

All offices except the Veterans Administration will be closed next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday for spring vacation.

The cafeteria will be open until Thursday, with the Student Center remaining closed the entire week.

ADA requests frosh apply to school now

Freshmen pre-dental students are advised to write to the dental college of their choice now, declaring ultimate intentions to enter. All pre-dental students are required to take a dental aptitude test.

Requests to take the exams, scheduled for May 1951, October 1951 or March 1952 should be addressed to the Division on Dental Education, 222 East Superior Street, Chicago, Illinois.

Council says 'nix' on mixed-up voting

Polls reopen today for balloting; Tobias announces discrepancy in votes, names

The Student Council declared the election of Wednesday illegal at their meeting Wednesday afternoon.

The election is being run off again today. The polls opened at 9 this morning and will remain open until 3 this afternoon.

Ben Tobias, Student Council president, announced that there was a discrepancy in the number of ballots turned in and the total number of names signed on the poll sheets.

"Only fair"

Since the balloting was close, the Council feels that it is only fair to have another election.

Nancy Jones, election chairman, said: "I hope that the freshmen and juniors turn out for this election. The number of students who voted in Wednesday's election was a very small percentage of the classes."

Candidates same

The candidates for the offices are the same as before. Those running for freshmen woman Student Council post include Joan Ebert, Donna Miller, Sally Penny and Jean Salladay. Junior men on the ballot include Harley Beber, Dick Beem, Jim Bourne, Howard Byram, and Don Sarooian.

Competing for the Junior Prom Queen title are Marjorie Batie, Joan Bugbee, Doris Hanson, Shirley Hawkins, Barbara Haugness, Nancy Hileman, Helen Holtz, and Gloria Johnson.

Others

Carol Miles, Joan Nelson, Nancy Spring, Judy Swafford, Shirley Welniak, June Williams, and Jackie Zerbe complete the list of candidates.

OU will give grants in audio-visual work

The University of Omaha is one of 26 universities in the United States chosen to award Encyclopaedia Britannica Films Summer Scholarships this semester.

According to Dr. Frank Gorman, dean of the College of Education, the university will award the scholarships to five students for the summer term.

Use of press made Kendall success, says Adrian at Lecture

"Amos Kendall is one of the greatest politicians this country has produced," declared Frederick Adrian, associate professor of history, at the Faculty Lecture Series Wednesday in the auditorium.

Adrian spoke on "Amos Kendall: The Great Power of the Jackson Administration" in the third lecture of the current series.

"Man of mystery"

"Kendall was the man of mystery during the formative years of the Jackson administration. Although few people ever saw him, Kendall had the ability to sense the political aspects of any situation and turn them in favor of the administration," said Adrian.

According to the professor, the Jackson administration used the press more effectively than any preceding one.

Mass appeal

Continuing, Adrian said "Kendall knew how to appeal to the masses and did so through the country weeklies, where his letters were published as the papers' editorials."

Cafeteria opens for night school breaks

The Student Council of the School of Adult Education with the Adult Education and cafeteria staffs are sponsoring the coffee periods.

The SAE said that they are trying to accomplish three objectives by having coffee served. They are (1) Students may be more alert for the rest of the evening; (2) It will help to make the break more orderly; and (3) The periods will aid in renewing acquaintances among students.

To accommodate all students, the coffee periods will be broken into two periods—the first at 8:00 p. m. and the second at 8:20 p. m.

TV program features OU spring fashions modeled by sewing class

Spring fashions at Omaha University were featured on "This Is Your University" television show yesterday afternoon.

The home economics and radio departments cooperated to present "Fashions Around the Clock" at 5:15 over WOW-TV.

Stressing the self-constructed wardrobe, home economics students modeled the clothes they had made. Appearing before the television cameras were Sheila Blossom, Pat Johansen, Alyce Beachler, Grace Coffeen, Peggy Menck and Diane Purdy.

The complete spring ensemble, with an outfit for every occasion, added up to less than seventy dollars, excluding accessories.

Marilyn Sibert narrated the 15 minute show, written and directed by Jack Katz and engineered by Kevee Kirshenbaum.

The program was represented by Miss Margaret Killian, director, with Mrs. Ernestine Bottlemey, assistant. The entire production was supervised by Bruce Linton, director of radio.

IT'S THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO Jo Larkin...

Today's the last day! A whole week of vacation is ahead to study, sleep, and let things cool down around here. Giving the students of OU entertaining features is a very touchy matter. Ask anyone who knows.

Charlie Huffman's got the job with future possibilities and opportunities. It seems the business manager of Student Publications at a Western college embezzled thousands of dollars from the student fund. Charlie says that they must not have as good a system as OU. He wants to know how the guy did it.

This record "John and Marsha" sure is a dilly. In a column describing a conversation about the record it was said . . . "It's just a mere case of a guy and a dame calling each other. Is that right?"

"That's right," a press agent said.

"But," he cried, banging his fist on the table, "if you happen to have a dirty mind, that record is a disgrace."

Tomorrow's St. Patrick's Day, begorra. To look around the halls this week you'd think every person in this school has some ancestor from Ireland. Even the Christmas color doesn't have the following the Emerald Isle has.

Martin W. Bush gave the OU chamber orchestra a pat on the back in his review of their concert. He said that in their "precision, technical proficiency, finesse and sensing of old and modern idioms the group came admirable close to professional levels." The orchestra gave their first concert last Sunday at Joslyn.

At Michigan State college the instructor for a course called Criminal Evidence noticed that several mid-semester exam papers were remarkably alike, and promptly gave the whole class a lie detector test.

The University chorus gave their annual Easter program this morning to a packed auditorium. All the students still wish the chorus would honor them with more short programs throughout the year. OU talent is sometimes a whole lot better than imported programs.

Here I had about two and one-half inches about last Wednesdays election . . . the poor turnout of the Freshmen and Junior classes, when the Student Council decided to have another one. It seems someone may have stuffed the ballot box or just didn't sign their name to the poll sheets. I'd like to do away silently with the persons who did either of these things.

But maybe more students will vote today.

In Michigan at Albion College the newspaper declared . . . "The results of the voting conducted in chapel this week concerning the Student Council constitution indicate either an unfortunate lack of interest among student voters were cast by a total of 1128 students . . ."

That's better than 84 ballots cast by a total of 81 students.

Maybe they should put up a few signs

The student settled himself at a table in the library. He placed his books neatly about him and opened his notebook. Then he lit a cigarette.

Other students watched him with something like fascinated awe as he exhaled the first lungful toward the magazine racks. Soon the whole room was aware of a new atmosphere.

A librarian stalked up behind him. He puffed away contentedly, knocking his ashes under the table. The librarian bent over and looked him in the eye.

"We do not smoke in this room," she said.

Disgusted, the student stood up, ground the cigarette out with his heel and marched from the room.

The battle was over but the smoke remained.

TV wardrobes come to lees than 70 bucks

Economy ruled the television wave-lengths yesterday when OU home economics students took over "This is Your University" on WOW-TV. Anxious fathers who watched the show were, no doubt, overjoyed, to learn that the girls had made the complete spring wardrobe, suitable for any occasion, for just under seventy dollars.

First to smile before the cameras, Sheila Blossom wore her reversible cotton quilted robe with matching scuffs. Aimed for at-home enjoyment (and studying) the set cost her only $10.50 to make.

Suitable for campus and casual wear, basic navy wool jersey separates were modeled by Alyce Beachler. Alyce ran it up on the sewing machine for just $9.15.

At a cost of $4.00 for materials and notions, Pat Johansen made her pink chambray golfer. She even constructed the pattern for the dress she wore on the TV show.

Grace Coffeen and Peggy Menck appeared in smart Easter suits. Grace made hers from durable grey menswear flannel for $30.00. Budgetwise Peggy fashioned an aqua wool suit with box jacket for just $6.30.

Narrator Marilyn Sibert, of the radio department, presented a Spring fashion forecast, straight from Paris, telling of the new soft line in suits and emphasis on color this year.

Yet, the highlight of the television show was Diane Purdy's ballerina length formal in sunset pink and black. The cost? Just $9.15.

The six ensembles ran up a total bill of $69.10. One father was overheard to exclaim: "At last my daughter has learned something useful in college."

Hearn, Farris cop wrestling laurels; Mancuso turns 'pro'

Omaha U's wrestlers have been busy, despite the fact that the regular intercollegiate season is over.

Two Indians are Midwest AAU wrestling champs. Lynn Farris won the 165 pound title and Milton Hearn walked off with the heavyweight crown. Farris was behind on points with time running, but rallied to gain two points and the match by a 4-3 score. He won with just five seconds left.

Hearn came through with a 6-5 decision over William Snively of Lincoln to cop the heavyweight title.

Mancuso also promoter

Meanwhile, Charlie Mancuso made two ventures in the grappling field. Mancuso turned promoter last Saturday night to sponsor a match between local wrestlers and a touring team from Japan.

Lynn Farris was the only Mancuso man to win a match, but Bob Grau gained a title with his opponent. The two younger Mancusos, Frankie of Omaha U and Bob of Central High, also wrestled in the meet.

Monday night, Charlie tried his hand at professional rassling, and it turned out to be different from wrestling. Mancuso was defeated in his first pro match at the Legion Club.

Morrison referees

In losing, Charlie lost the championship of South Tenth Street. The winner, Louie Longo, is now reigning supreme on South Tenth Street.

Even Coach Allie Morrison got in some extra-curricular activity. Morrison refereed the AAU matches at the Jewish Community Center.

And here's a little sidelight. Midwest AAU champ Hearn was defeated in the OU intramural wrestling meet by Russ Gorman. Gorman decided Hearn by only a 2-1 score.

Men's 'murals'

Theta's snatch volleyball titles; Blackhawks win wrestling meet

Theta Phi Delta won the volleyball league with a record of six wins and one loss. Sigma Phi Epsilon, Pawnees, and ISA finished in second place with a five won-two loss record.

Standings (Final)

Theta Phi Delta	6
Sigma Phi Epsilon	5
Pawnees	5
ISA	5
Blackhawks	3
Theta Chi	3
Sigma Lambda Beta	1
Phi Epsilon Pi	0

Inter-Fraternity (Final)

Theta Phi Delta	4
Theta Chi	3
Sigma Phi Epsilon	2
Sigma Lambda Beta	1
Phi Epsilon Pi	0

Blackhawks captured the 'mural' wrestling title by a five point margin over ISA. The Blackhawks won more individual matches than any other team with three titles. Pawnees, Phi Epsilon Pi, Theta Chi, and ISA won one title apiece.

Indians play in AAU midwest tournament

A team made up primarily of Omaha U and ex-OU basketball players reached the Mid-west AAU cage tournament in Norfolk, Tuesday night.

The Indians on the squad were Don Fitch, Lynn Hooten, Russ Kerr and Bob Stedman. OU alums were Ernie Flecky, Bill Robbins and Guy Oberg. Two Creighton Bluejays, Francis Miller and Herb Beck, joined the OU players. The team won the Omaha senior men's tourney to advance to the Mid-west meet.

The local team was defeated by Sioux City Jamicos, who were led by Bob Pierce, 6-7 Nebraska U center. The score was 73-57.

With ten minutes left, the Ranks team (Omaha) was on the short end of a 69-51 count. It was then that Miller fouled out.

Bob Stedman led Ranks' scorers with 13 points, followed by Don Fitch, who made 11. Ernie Flecky and Miller hit ten markers apiece.

The tournament director had said that these two teams were the best in the meet.

Chi O's, Alpha Xi B remain tied for lead

Independents dropped all three games to the Chi O bowlers Tuesday. Chi O's wins insured them of their tie for first place with Alpha Xi B.

Each team now has a 40-23 record, with Alpha Xi Delta next with 36 wins and 27 losses.

In other games, Zetas took two and dropped one to Gammas and Chi O Owls lost all three to Alpha Xi B. A three win sweep was scored by Sigma Kappa over NISA, and Alpha Xi Delta won three from Sigmas.

Jackie Zerbie took individual game and individual series honors with a 159 game score and 425 series tally. Helen Tiehart rolled a 181 for high average of the week.

OU stages Play Day for Nebraska women

Omaha U's women will be host to 25 gals from the University of Nebraska for Saturday's Play Day.

Basketball, volleyball, badminton, bowling and bicycling are planned for the day. If weather permits, the women will also take part in some tobogganing. A fifty cent fee to cover luncheon costs will be charged.

All women are urged to attend. The success of this meeting could mean future activities of a similar type for all OU unaffiliated women, as well as those who regularly participate for the day. Jo Thorson is in charge of arrangements.

OU tennis squad has tough games

By Dick Kimball

Fortune again smiles upon the Omaha U campus, according to Tennis Coach George Pritchard. Despite a tougher schedule, Pritchard has high hopes for this year's racketmen.

Bob Rutt is the cause of much of Pritchard's optimism. The sensational veteran from California is sporting an impressive record. While he was at Santa Monica Junior College in the West Coast state, he racked up many impressive victories and lost only one match.

Apparently his fame has spread, for he was named a member of the National Junior College tennis team last year.

Fred Pisasale is another reason for Pritchard's enthusiasm for this season's racket wars. The wiry veteran is back on the OU courts for the third season, where he has a bright future awaiting him.

Offerjost, Bridenbaugh return to bolster OU diamond outlook

by Lee Nelson

Pitching will occupy one of the brightest spots in Omaha University's diamond outlook. The Indian's mound staff will be bolstered with the return of Bob Offerjost and Bud Bridenbaugh, number one and two pitchers respectively on last year's nine that won 13 of 14 games. Other veterans on the hill include Larry Micheels, Lynn Hooten, Gary Penisten, and southpaw Bill Duffack, plus newcomers Don Hopkins and Bob Hempel.

Offerjost, the largest man on the squad, uses his bulk to advantage in fogging his fast ball past opponent batters.

Bob is a graduate of Central High where he was the ace hurler on the Eagle's city championship squad in 1949.

Offerjost gained a great deal of experience that same manner on the ever-powerful Storm Lake Whitecaps, semi-pro king in northwest Iowa. After last year's 6-1 season, Bob was the number one man on the pitching corps of the Carroll, Iowa semi-pro outfit.

Bridenbaugh returns

Bridenbaugh, the number two choice in the pitching department, finished unbeaten in the 1950 OU campaign. This year will be his third year on the Indian varsity.

Bud was the mainstay of the North High hurling that copped 1948 Inter-city honors. Bud, like Offerjost, gained invaluable experience by competition in the semi-pro ranks with Blair in 1949 and Ord last summer.

and 31 at the University.

Versatile might be the word for Larry Micheels. "Mike" not only pitches, but also roams the outfield and tackles the first base duties. Last year, Larry confined most of his talent to the gardens, but Coach Yelkin has high hopes for him as a moundsman this season.

Micheels received seasoning with the semi-pro Woodward team in the Oklahoma State league.

Still on the versatile side, Larry is the same Micheels that played forward on the basketball five.

Hooten combines duties

Both first base and pitching chores come under the name of Lynn Hooten. The former North three-sport athlete covered the initial sack in high school but in later years has blossomed into a fine pitching prospect.

Lynn also plays football for Omaha U, but injuries forced him out of the gridiron sport last season so he settled for the job of assistant freshman coach at his alma mater.

Gary Penisten, who in 1950 spent most of his time on the Paposes, looms as a top candidate on the Indian pitching staff.

Gary campaigned most of the summer with Tom Kelley's Council Bluffs Rainbows where he picked up much valuable training.

Penisten, as the lone standout hurler, came through with flying colors on a mediocre North nine in 1949.

Duffack, another North alum, is the only portside on the OU mound corps. As in high school, Bill plays the outfield besides taking his turn on the hill.

Packer newcomers

Hopkins and Hempel, two South High grads, are also in the pitching picture. Both men played on the H. P. Smiths team that took National League laurels in the 1949 Legion ball chase.

Hopkins was the big man in the throwing division while Hempel divided his time between the mound in the fall semester from Nebraska and first base. Don transferred where he was a standout on the freshman football team. Bob also participates in the pigskin sport when he lettered on the OU eleven as only a freshman.

Chi O's 'Shamrock Shuffle' to be at Carter Lake tonight

Eddy Haddad will play at informal dance; decorations in St. Patrick's theme

It will be a great night for the Irish—and the Greeks—when Chi Omega sorority presents the second annual "Shamrock Shuffle" tonight.

The strictly informal dance will be held from 9 p.m. to midnight at the Carter Lake Club. Eddy Haddad and his orchestra will play.

Greeks and their dates are asked to wear something green if possible. Members of Chi Omega will wear white carnations.

The ballroom decorations will follow the St. Patrick's Day theme. Large shamrocks composed of green and white balloons will be placed around the sides of the dance floor. Life-sized figures of Irish boys and girls will stand by the stage.

Favors will be given to each couple attending the dance. Intermission entertainment will feature a skit in keeping with the Irish theme. Two door prizes will also be awarded.

Faculty guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Hurst, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn C. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce A. Linton and Mr. and Mrs. Avery L. Stephens.

Other guests will include Mr. and Mrs. John Adams and Mr. and Mrs. John Gustafson. Mesdames Adams and Gustafson are members of Chi Omega's advisory board.

Donna Edstrand is general chairman for the "Shamrock Shuffle." Other committees are: Ann Williams, skit; Marilyn Middleton, decorations; Maggie Claeson, Joan Haven and Marilyn Mellam, general program.

Garlough to speak to Omaha Canterburyans

Dr. Lester N. Garlough, head of the department of general sciences, will speak at the meeting of the Omaha Canterburyans Sunday. They meet at Trinity Cathedral.

His subject will be "Science, Religion, and God." Mr. Paul Beck, professor of history, will speak on "The Historian and Religion" April 15.

ACS holds Tuesday meet at Paxton Hotel

The Omaha section of the American Chemical Society had a professional meeting Tuesday. Omaha and Creighton Universities' chapters attended.

Minnesota University's George M. Briggs, head of the Poultry Division there, spoke March 13 at Creighton University's Chemistry Building at 8 p.m.

An informal dinner for Mr. Briggs was held at 6 p.m. at the Paxton Hotel Coffee Shop.

Biochemist Briggs went to Wisconsin University where he received his B.S. with honors in Biochemistry in 1940. A year later, he earned his master's in 1944, his Ph.D. in biochemistry. In 1946 he supervised experimental work which led to isolation of vitamin B12.

ODK will meet today to approve sing rules

Omicron Delta Kappa will meet today at 12:30 in room 289 to approve rules for the all-university sing scheduled for later this spring. ODK will co-sponsor the event with the members of Waakiya. Bill Fitzsimmons and Harry Langdon are the ODK members on the rules committee.

Theta's elect Tobias prexy; Malec to help

Ben Tobias has been named president of Theta Phi Delta fraternity. The election was held at the group's business meeting Monday night in the Student Center.

Tobias moves up from the vice presidency. He has been acting head of the fraternity since President George Reid left OU earlier this year.

The other new officers include: Joe Malec, vice president; John Robert Hanson, secretary, and Walt Nabity, treasurer.

Charles Platt will handle the duties of the sergeant at arms, and Ben Butler takes over as pledge-master. Bob Russell will direct the fraternity's intermural activities.

Bob Keim was named Theta's representative to the Inter-fraternity Council.

The group's next meeting will be held next Wednesday evening.

Plans are being made for the members of Theta Phi Delta to attend services together at the First Lutheran Church on Sunday.

Sig Ep's elect more officers Tuesday eve

Election of the remaining officers highlighted the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity Tuesday evening in the Student Center.

Jerry Meyer was elected as junior interfraternity council representative, Bob Bock as Assistant pledge master and Jim Townsend as float chairman for Ma-ie Day.

Others chosen and their offices are: Al Zach, chaplain; Bill Pierson, senior marshal; Paul Fesler, junior marshal, and Glenn Margrit, guard. Peewee Schultz was chosen to assist Athletic Director Ken Kremers, who is now Sig Ep President.

Officers elected last meeting were installed and committee reports were given.

Suits, silk prints to be favorites for OU co-eds in Easter parade; navy blue popular

Suits and silk prints seem to be top favorites for Easter this year among Omaha U co-eds. The society editors have rounded up the following choices for the Easter parade:

Mary Ann Herrin, a member of Alpha Xi Delta, has picked a white faille Palm Beach suit for her Easter finery. She has chosen a style with a pencil slim skirt long fitted sleeves and a turned-up collar. For a dash of color, Miss Herrin will wear navy blue accessories and a spray of violets on her shoulder.

Marilyn Mellam, Chi Omega, will look just like a page out of Mademoiselle in her new four-piece suit of navy and pink check. This suit with its 18 wearing combinations was reviewed in a Gateway fashion column a few weeks ago. With her ensemble, Miss Mellam will wear navy calf-skin opera pumps, navy gloves and a matching straw hat trimmed with pink spring flowers and veiling.

A navy and yellow silk print with navy velvet trim will make up Bonnie Kundel's new Easter outfit. The dress has a V-neckline and gathered cap-sleeves. With it Miss Kundel will wear navy accessories. She is a member of Sigma Kappa.

A red gabardine suit with softly tailored lines is the choice of Marcia Jourdan, Zeta Tau Alpha. Her suit has a straight skirt, pointed collar and tiny pockets. With it she will wear black patent leather shoes and black gloves and carry a matching handbag.

Mary Ann Kardell, Gamma Sigma Omicron, will appear on Easter Sunday in a lavender crepe dress with cap sleeves and a straight skirt. Miss Kardell also has a long tight-fitted jacket of the same material to wear over the dress.

Beige linen and lace will highlight Jean Reid Iltzsch's holiday dress. The dress features a full skirt and lace blouse with cap-sleeves and a boat-neckline. A short-sleeved bolero jacket is worn over the lace top, completing the suit-dress effect. Mrs. Iltzsch will wear a beige and white straw hat and snakeskin sandals to accentuate her Easter outfit.

June Williams, an ISA member, will wear a navy blue dress of light wool. The dress has large patch pockets, a small rolled collar and three-quarter length sleeves. A green belt with a gold buckle adds a dash of color to Miss Williams' ensemble.

Gamma's alumnae to give banquet Friday

The Alumni chapter of Gamma Sigma Omicron will be hostesses at a banquet for the active chapter. The Founders' Day dinner will take place at the Castle Hotel this Friday night.

Mrs. Donald C. Guild, alum president, is heading the dinner committee. Entertainment will be provided by the alums.

Models for the Panhellenic Style Show were chosen at Tuesday's meeting. They are Betty Rosholm, Shirley Hawkins, and Harriet Burbridge.

Plans for Ma-ie Day were discussed; Mary Ann Kardell reported on the Float Committee's progress.

The next meeting will be March 27, at 6:30 in the lounge.

APO completes plans for Ma-ie at meeting

Alpha Phi Omega, OU's scouting fraternity, completed arrangements for Ma-ie Day activities when A.P.O. members met last Tuesday evening in the east wing of the cafeteria.

Final plans for a spring vacation trip to Philmont Scout Ranch, Cimarron, New Mexico, March 17-25 were also completed. Ten members are going to make the journey.

March 30, 31 set for Greek Week

Assembly will start annual event

Plans for Greek Week are still in progress. The annual event for sororities and fraternities will be held March 30

A general assembly starts off the celebration Friday afternoon in the auditorium. Later in the afternoon, several seminars will meet in classrooms. That evening a banquet will be presented. At that time awards for scholarship are presented to the Greeks.

Saturday morning more seminars will be held. That night an informal dance at the Carter Lake Club will end the two days' festivities. Gary Penisten and his orchestra will play for the Greeks and their dates from 9 p.m. to midnight.

There have been a few changes in committee members. Dick Beem has been appointed treasurer. The Greek organizations are being assessed according to number of members. Merlyn Fratt will replace Lee Damhoff, Theta Chi's and Jerry Meyer will replace Tom Meyer, Sig Ep's, on the dance committee.

Another highlight of the Week will be the presentation of new all-Greek songs. A committee representing each campus Greek organization is now working on original words and music. Kathleen Johanson, Alpha Xi Delta, and Bob Hansen, Theta Phi Delta, are co-chairmen.

The speakers for the event have not been announced yet. The two-day observance is sponsored by the OU Panhellenic and Inter-fraternity Councils. Judy Swafford, Chi Omega, and Jim Daly, Theta Delta, are the general chairmen.

Pin Feathers to hold election for officers

Pin Feathers, freshmen women's pep club, has selected April for its election of officers. The election, to take place during the meeting, will be in room 386 at 12:15 p.m.

There are five posts to be filled, as designated in the club's constitution. These include that of the president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and an advisory position to be assumed by an under-classman representative from Feathers.

Under the direction of Pat Patrick, temporary chairman, and the several committee heads, letters seeking aid concerning hand and card formations to accompany school songs and yells have been sent to 15 leading universities.

Original card formations have also been worked out by Diane Purdy, card committee chairman, and the members of her committee.
